

WELLINGTON WINDS

"The church is TERRIFIC. The audience can hear and see everything. It's a great thrill. I gladly drive from Burlington."

"I look forward to and very much ENJOY Daniel Warren's stories and explanations about the music played at concerts."

WELLINGTON WINDS

Formed in 1981 and based in the Waterloo Region, the Wellington Winds is a concert band of Central Ontario's finest musicians. Many are performing professionally or are music educators.

This is the Wellington Winds' 31st season of outstanding, entertaining concerts that present varied programs of the best of familiar music and also new music that has appeal to a wide audience. The Winds concerts are known for their informal approach and enjoyable commentary. The Wellington Winds has released a number of CDs, including a studio-recorded CD of works by local composers, An Artist's Neighbourhood.

In addition to their annual series, they have performed with the Grand Philharmonic Choir, at MusicFest Canada in Toronto, at the Guelph Spring Festival, as co-host of the Music Is For Life Symposium, in workshops for students, and for the Canadian Music Educators' Conference.
